To, Jason Roy, presently residing at 3/158, Contractor Path, Chapra-689980.

Under instructions received from and on behalf of our client, and further to correspondence exchanged between the parties over the preceding weeks concerning the matter of failure to vacate leased premises, we are constrained to issue this formal notice calling upon you to remedy the breach complained of within a period of fifteen days from the date of receipt of this notice, dated 22-08-2026.

Our client's grievance, briefly stated, is that despite repeated reminders and opportunities extended in good faith, you have failed and neglected to address the matter of failure to vacate leased premises, thereby causing continuing loss and inconvenience to our client, who reserves all rights and remedies available in law, including the right to initiate civil proceedings for recovery of damages and, where applicable, criminal proceedings, without any further notice to you in that regard.

You are hereby called upon to comply with the demands set out above within the stipulated period, failing which our client shall be left with no alternative but to pursue such legal remedies as may be available, entirely at your risk as to costs and consequences. This notice is issued without prejudice to any other right or remedy available to our client, all of which are expressly reserved.
